"Insult to golfers"

BIKER RIPS UP GREEN

The Drayton Valley golf course had an unwanted visitor Sunday night.

A biker.

Sometime between 10 p.m. Sunday and 9 a.m. Monday the green on the number eight hole was ripped up by a motorbike.

About $1,000 in damage was done to the par-three 142 yard hole adjacent to Highway 22.

But the loss will be much more than just the direct repair cost according to club pro Howard Vickers.

Vickers said they will lose customers and revenue because of the damage done to the green. To rebuild it with the special grass used for golf greens would cost at least $10,000.

The damage means the green can't be used for the rest of the season including a prestigious tournament today (Wednesday) involving members of Edmonton Oilers and other sports teams.

"It's no good at all," Vickers said adding the green will be scarred for at least another complete season.

The biker gained access to the green through the ditch and "badly mutilated" the surface. In addition, the dirtbike leaked gas on the side of the green meaning grass will not grow there for quite a while, Vickers pointed out.

Vickers called the action "a direct insult to golfers."

Staff Sgt. Les Bannerman, who is also president of the golf club, called the action "irresponsible and ignorant."

Anyone with information regarding the incident can contact the Drayton Valley RCMP.

Consortium staff are keeping busy

The Pembina Educational Consortium in Drayton Valley doesn't have to worry about an image problem.

People definitely seem to know where they are located.

Their office staff have literally been run off their feet in the last 10 days as people come in to get more information on post secondary education.

Consortium executive director Joe MacLellan says people are also coming in to register for full

Breton's Barrett is Canada's best

Rod Barrett of Breton is once again the Canadian champion arm wrestler.

Barrett, who won the title in 1982, captured the 220 pound class at the tournament held in Toronto on the weekend.

"It's nice to get it back again," Barrett said. He had finished second the last two years.

Barrett now goes onto the world championships in Detroit next weekend.

"I aiming for third place, it's pretty tough," Barrett says of his upcoming meet in Detroit.

Going into the Canadian championships he knew he "had a good shot at it."

He beat out Gene Tatti of Hamilton to win after knocking off four other competitors to reach the final of the single elimination competition.

About 150 competitors were at the championships.

time and part time upgrading. Athabasca University and Grant MacEwan programs and early childhood development programs.

MacLellan says activity is already up this year over the past two. "It could be a result of the economic circumstances and people are looking more at the future," MacLellan offers.

Registration at the consortium is expected to top the 1,000 mark this season compared to 700 last year and less than 100 when the programs were first introduced three years ago.

"I'm really pleased with the interest and the response. We want to hear from people, who can tell us what they want to see," MacLellan added.

One of the consortiums most popular program has been their registered nursing assistants program. Over 80 people have registered for a program that can only handle 20 due to limited clinical facilities. The consortium received 40 calls in two days for the RNA program.

Deadline changed

Due to the Labor Day holiday, The Western Review office will be closed Monday. The paper will still be published on Wednesday, but the deadline for advertising and news will be changed.

We ask our customers to have their classified and display ads in before noon this Friday.

All news copy for the Sept. 4 paper must be into the paper by noon on Friday.

Fifth auctioneer in family

By Lorne Christensen

At 15-years-old many kids haven't even thought about their careers.

But Corey Sekura is different.

The son of auctioneer Wendy Sekura is following in his dad's and brothers' footsteps and has become an auctioneer.

He graduated from the Western Canadian School of Auctioneering in Lacombe just recently and makes the fifth member of the Sekura family to become an auctioneer.

"I looked forward to it, I wanted to do it," he explained.

The course involved two weeks of training that lasted from 8:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sekura said they had a lot of lectures to supplement the 18 hours of bid calling they did during the course.

At 15, he was the youngest of his class of 28 that graduated.

Although Sekura had sold at some charity and school auctions before he got to sell at his first auction since graduating last Wednesday.

The Grade 11 student at Erank Maddock High School says he plans to "stick with" the auction market in Drayton Valley and do "a little bit of farming on the side."

He has been involved with the local auction market since he could walk.

"We used to live right next to here, and we'd come down and watch even though we weren't supposed to."

Sekura admitted he was a little nervous about his first sale although he has been practicing for this moment for a lot of years.

"I used to practice on the tractors and stuff out in the field," he adds.

Corey Sekura selling at his first sale last week while his older brother Ron looks on.

Opinions

Friction must stop

Two-price system brings discontent

County residents are becoming increasingly upset with developments in Drayton Valley.

And, who can blame them.

First, there was the town's suggestion of a two-price system for County of Leduc people who used their swimming pool. Now, the municipal library board is talking about a two-price system for users in the counties of Parkland, Leduc and Wetaskiwin.

All this friction between the town and the county has to stop.

The Town of Drayton Valley is the place where most county residents come for their services and supplies. All this talk of a two-price swimming pool and library fee will just send more of those potential customers to other markets.

Add to that, the number of people who operate a business in town and live in the county. How many people does the town have that live in the county?

A solution would be to get the necessary operating funds from the counties instead of holding the people for ransom. If that's not possible, the pool and the library should look at other means of support.

If this talk of a separate price for county users continues, efforts to form a new county will likely go down the drain.

Soon...

It's a new bylaw sir, county residents have to pay a toll to use the streets!

Minor hockey bids for arena concession

One of the most frustrating aspects of an editor's job is getting all the news in the paper each and every week.

We often take more flak for the news that doesn't get in the paper as opposed to the articles that do appear.

However, we just want to let our regular correspondents and contributors know to keep the news coming. Things are bound to get better.

Make sure you get a copy of the September 4th Western Review. It will contain the town's fall/winter recreation directory and the trade fair supplement.

Recreation director Calvin Bennfield and Park Valley Pool manager Charlene Jenkins have come up with great information. If you or your family want to get involed this season, the new directory is loaded with dates and information.

Editor's Notes

Co-organizers Kristina Little and Martin Prentice have done another 'super' job selling the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce Trade Fair. It will be held September 7-9.

It's that time of the year again when the Diet Centre, TOPS and Weight Watchers get busy.

The Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association has submitted a bid to run the concession at the arena.

According to president Garry Janzen, it is the intention of the executive to have volunteers work in the concession, and through this, raise some much-needed funds for minor hockey. We're hoping the town will give minor hockey's bid serious consideration.

Don't miss the September calendar of events in this week's issue. It includes some major dates for the month. Our thanks to all the groups who phoned or sent in dates. It's a free service we provide monthly, designed to be clipped out of the paper and tacked up in the kitchen for a handy reference.

Swift Current native

Former Miss Teen Canada visits Carefoots

By Lorne Christensen

Karen MacBean came to Drayton Valley last week to visit friends and relax.

But MacBean is different than your average visitor to Drayton Valley because she is a former Miss Teen Canada.

MacBean, 16, concluded her reign on March 5 of 1985 after winning the pageant a year earlier at the age of 14.

The Swift Current native was in town visiting Murray and Claire Carefoot and their family. She explained she got to know the Carefoots when they lived next to her in Swift Current.

"Drayton Valley is nice, it's small," MacBean said.

"All the people here are really friendly," she added.

MacBean came to town on a Sunday and spent the next few days doing a variety of things. She went to Banff with the Carefoots to attend a dinner for Prince Phillip and was going shopping in Edmonton before she left.

She pointed out she was "looking forward" to shopping in West Edmonton Mall before flying back to Saskatchewan.

But her schedule these days is nothing compared to the hectic days she put in as Miss Teen Canada.

"There was an extreme amount of pressure. I really had to be on my toes at all times," MacBean said.

"I felt like a tape recorder," she explained about the hundreds of times she was interviewed.

"People are always looking at you," MacBean added.

But now since giving up her crown she has had some time to herself despite "getting calls from different companies" to do promotions or to judge pageants.

"Not hard work"

MacBean does not regret any of the time she spent as Miss Teen Canada though.

"It was a big challenge but a lot of fun."

One of the hardest aspects was keeping up with her school work.

"It's hard to keep up with school, you find the time or make time," she explained.

But another difficult part of the job was being away from her family.

Her father is a lawyer and her mother is a guidance counsellor at a high school. She has an older brother, 18, and her two younger brothers were killed in a car accident last summer.

She said the summer as Miss Teen Canada went by fast because she "was away from home so much."

"When I won I was only 14. I had to do a lot of thinking."

At 14, she was the youngest of the 40 contestants from across Canada.

"I didn't even think about winning."

"But I have learned a lot more about Canada and its people," MacBean added.

Now that her reign is over MacBean is hoping to go to university at either the U of A or the University of Saskatchewan to study medicine.

MacBean says she also enjoys kids.

"I love kids. I teach a Sunday school class and I love to be with kids."

MacBean reflects on her year as Miss Teen Canada as a "big challenge."

"You don't think you have it but you find it and put on a smile and make the best of it," she explains.

Civilian co-ordinator needed for Block Parent program

The block parent program in Drayton Valley needs a coordinator.

Const. Phil Avison, of the RCMP, has been doing the coordinating for the last few years but would like to find someone to be a civilian co-ordinator.

Most of the job would be phoning applicants

Speaking in town

Koziak seeks economic expansion

Julian Koziak wants to see Alberta's economy diversify into areas such as forestry.

Speaking at a function held at the Drayton Valley Senior Citizen's Drop-In Centre last Saturday, Progressive Conservative leadership candidate Koziak said the province has a lot of natural resources such as "water, tourism, agriculture, forestry and, of course, energy."

"We could hit two billion board feet of lumber" this year, said Koziak, pointing out forestry is only taking six per cent of the possible hardwood capacity in the province.

However, he warned "we have to be careful and keeping track of who has block parent signs."

"It's not hard work, just time consuming," commented Avison.

The RCMP would still have the responsibility of authorizing applicants.

The program was set up in Drayton Valley about five or six years ago, said Avison. Although that whatever we do does not adversely affect our american markets."

There is a protectionist movement which would like to see our exports reduced and this would be triggered by subsidies to our industries, explained Koziak.

A way to get around directly subsidizing the industries would be to build forestry roads, improving both the ease of removing lumber and building tourism potential, he said.

These considerations are very important as during the 1988 Olympics in Calgary, "Eyes from all over the world will be looking at this province."

Koziak would also like to make things easier for the oil industry.

He asserted the oil industry is "looking forward to a lack of attention from governments." Koziak said the current regulations will be good and the industry will only do better if there is stability in the laws.

If the regulations are always changing, investments and thus developments in projects such as the tar sands will be hurt.

As well, "the last thing they want is a change in government."

Because this is an exporting province, "the last thing we need is barriers" in other markets. Coming out in favor of free trade, Koziak said "it does not pay to protect inefficient industries."

there is not much of a demand placed on the volunteers here, "when you need it, it's there," Avison commented.

The block parents advertise their presence by signs placed so children in need of help can see them.

When a child does go to a block parent, "The majority of the time, it is best to call the police" said Avison.

In approving potential block parents, the RCMP do a criminal check, looking mostly for assault or sexual assault.

Once applicants are approved, they are given the sign which is put out only when the people are able to take care of a situation. Avison said if there is any reason they cannot take the time if something happens, then the sign should be left down until later.

The program is doing very well in Drayton Valley with about 120 members, which is "well over our goal," commented Avison.

$600,000 program

Did You Know?

The total cost of the Town's 1985 Paving and Sidewalk Program is $600,000 which is funded by the Provincial Government (438,000) and the Town (162,000).

The Town Office does have a complaint procedure in place. All complaints received are recorded on a special form and the follow-up of the complaint is recorded, with a response to the complainant being issued.

The Town Office is open during a portion of lunch hour. The office does not close until 12:30.

The August 29, Council Meeting has been cancelled. The next regular meeting of Council will be held on September 19.

Letters

Library issue

I am writing this letter to all County Residents who are presently not users of the D.V. Library.

With all the past publicity, I hope by now the county library users will have contacted their county representatives. Now, we need help from the county non-users.

The library has more to offer you than books. There is a record and tape collection. No charge to library patrons. Cameras are available on loan. Magazines, news periodicals, encyclopedias, world atlases, these are only a few things to speak of. The library is looking towards future expansion. The possibilities are unlimited. If, someday in the future, the library has something that interests you, think of what your library membership fees could be.

I am a County of Parkland resident. I also sit in the D.V. Library Board. I am being torn in two directions. In only one more month we will vote on a most crucial issue. The library must receive a more reasonable cost sharing per user from the counties, or county residents will have to pay from their own pockets. The library is presently receiving nothing from the counties of Leduc and Wetaskiwin. Little from the County of Parkland.

As a county resident, I am angry at the possibility of having to pay $100.00 for my family to join and use our library.

As a library board member, I will vote in favor of this increase if the county residents do not get up in arms!

I have called my county representative to voice my anger and frustrations on this matter. Have you?

Iris Galley
Chairperson, D.V. Library Board
County of Parkland Resident

Reasons for a new county

I am a member of the (Yes Group) Western Ratepayers Association.

My reasons for being a member are many and varied. One of the many reasons is the very idea of double billing. In last week's Western Review a letter to the editor was written on a two-tier system being implemented at the municipal library.

In the letter it was also suggested that we county people should phone or write our county councillors. Wouldn't it be better to talk to our representatives face to face? Phone calls and letters have a very real habit of being mislaid or just forgotten!

I would think a new county with a new county seat, within driving distance or even a phone call that isn't long distance, could resolve all these sorts of problems that are being caused by the apathy of the county seats of Leduc, Wetaskiwin and Parkland for the west end of each of these counties.

This is my trading area, not Stony Plain, so I feel a very real need to be a member of the Yes Group, and to try to interest all my neighbors into being members too.

E.A. (Betty) McGee
Secretary-treasurer
for the Western Ratepayers Association

How about us?

Undecided voter,
Ken Jessamine
Drayton Valley, Alta.

Our premier gives the oil companies a big shot in the arm, retires, buys a house in Calgary, where all the oil executives are located and hangs out his shingle.

Mr. Getty decides to get back into politics with a million dollar campaign. I wonder, who is paying the better part of it?

It seems to me the oil companies have been well represented both in the past and in the future in Alberta politics, so fellow Albertans let's consider other candidates who care for the little people, people like you and me who work, live, buy and pay for the services we sometimes get.

Don't forget the "Bay Street Boys" we ended up with in Ottawa.

Angry county residents

Two-price system delayed after talks

By Frank Ryan

The County of Parkland is very 'upset' over the thought of paying extra to use the Drayton Valley Municipal Library.

Henry Rondeau, Division 7 councillor says he has received numerous phone calls from angry county residents.

According to Rondeau, the town will delay any thought of a two-price system, which was suggested in a letter to The Western Review two weeks ago. The expected delay is a direct result of talks between Rondeau and several town council members.

The letter, from library board vice-chairperson Dorothy Logan, stated that refusal on the part of the counties of Parkland, Leduc and Wetaskiwin would result in a two-price system. It was also mentioned that Drayton Valley users would continue to pay $2 for students, $5 for adults and $10 per family while all county users, regardless of age, would be required to pay a flat $30 rate or $100 per family.

Councillor Bill Panice, who is also a member of the library board, expects to bring the matter to council tomorrow (Thursday). "Council is expected to kick around the idea before making any decision," Panice admits.

But even the suggestion that the County of Parkland would have to pay, irks Rondeau.

"Maybe we're not giving the town as much as they expected," Rondeau stated. "The County of Parkland is the only one of the three counties mentioned that gives any money to the municipal library. But according to Panice, their three dollars per capita is only a shade of the funding needed."

Rondeau suggested that the County of Parkland look at equalizing their payments to the town, giving less to the arena and the swimming pool and more to the library. "At the present time our people are putting together a list of all the monies we give Drayton Valley," Rondeau added. "With all the talk of a new county Rondeau says, 'This is not the right time to anger county ratepayers.'"

New playground on hold

Installation of playground equipment at the old swimming pool site in Drayton Valley has been delayed.

When a playground crew arrived in town last week to erect the equipment, they found the old pool full of water.

"We dug down 24 inches and hit water," reports recreation director Calvin Bennefield.

"When the tank was filled with dirt, we punched holes in the walls, but apparently that didn't do any good."

Bennefield added. As a result, weeping tile is being installed. If that doesn't work, the playground equipment may have to be placed on cement pilings.

Won't change position

County of Leduc says 'no' to pool funds

Leduc county council will not allocate further funding for operation of the Drayton Valley swimming pool.

Council recently reaffirmed its position as a result of a request from Drayton Valley mayor Bob Mayhew.

"We cannot change our position on this without changing our policy in its entirety," noted Coun. Albert Klapstein.

According to county recreation policy, funds are distributed to regional recreation boards, with disbursement left to the discretion of individual boards.

County parks and recreation director Bev Parker reported a request for additional funding was received and turned down by the Breton regional recreation board responsible for the Drayton Valley area.

"This has gone on for close to two years - I'm getting awfully tired of this," said Coun. Gene Begg, insisting council give a distinct answer regarding funding.

Klapstein maintained the county was not passing on a decision but adhering to policy.

"The regional boards have the responsibility of giving grants to recreation boards," he said.

Council voted in favor of sending a letter to the town of Drayton Valley stating further funding was the decision of the Breton recreation board.

In December 1984, the county awarded $35,000 in surplus funds to the town of Drayton Valley for operation of its newly constructed swimming pool.

According to the town's mayor, 10 per cent of the pool's users are from the county of Leduc.

Hockey goes despite arena concern

The Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association has been given the 'green light' to proceed with plans for the 1985-86 season despite rumors of serious problems at the Centennial Civic Arena.

The report, based on the long list of problems at the 18-year-old structure, are contained in a confidential report, that the town hasn't released.

Calvin Bennefield, the town's recreation director said Monday that he would be looking at the report that day. He says the biggest delay has been waiting for the costs.

Bennefield did agree that it would be in the best interests of the town to make a statement, so people could rest easier over the problems, and just what they are.

Garry Janzen, president of minor hockey said his biggest concerns were the boards and a P.A. system. Several sections of the boards had to be reinforced last winter.

Commenting on the lack of adequate washrooms, Bob Booth, public health inspector says "there's no specific regulations to do anything more. My hands are tied."

Crime spree

RCMP are asking for help to solve a crime spree near Cynthia.

"We've experienced major thefts and break-ins in the area northwest of Cynthia," which are oil industry related, said Cpl. Chris Lee of the Drayton Valley detachment.

Losses are upwards of $80,000, commented Lee.

In addition to thefts of large, expensive equipment, many normal household items have disappeared from the sites.

There are no suspects as yet, said Lee.

"We're going to have to have the cooperation of the public" to solve the crimes, Lee explained, adding the case is under investigation by the Edmonton, Evansburg and Drayton Valley detachments of the RCMP.

Greiner gets thrills every Saturday

By Frank Ryan

Jerry Greiner likes racing. So, it's not really surprising to see him in action every Saturday night at Calmar Raceway. How this all came about is a little like the television show "Thrill of a Lifetime".

Greiner, 19, manager of the Pembina Gulf Centre in Drayton Valley likes to watch racing on television. It was because of that interest in the sport that he got the itch to do the real thing.

"I went out to Calmar Raceway and the guys showed me around," Greiner admits.

The next step was to purchase a mini stock car for $1,500. The price included three motors, which turned out to be a valuable part of the purchase price.

In his first four nights at Calmar Raceway, Greiner finished second and eighth and blew two motors.

One thing Greiner is finding out the hard way is that racing is expensive. It costs the Drayton Valley driver about $100 every race night, and that doesn't include any expenses his stock car may need. Needless to say, he's looking for a sponsor.

Greiner will get one of his biggest "tests" this weekend when 45 cars from across the province participate in a Labor Day weekend double-header at Calmar. Races will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Sunday.

Greiner, who first took a position behind the wheel at the beginning of July, admits that it's all a little scary. The three-eighths mile clay track at Calmar provides a driver with lots of action, especially on the corners.

"You have to be on your toes and think fast," the 19-year-old rookie says. "You also have to have confidence in the other drivers," Greiner added.

His two months on the Alberta circuit has already provided Greiner with some anxious moments. One incident that he talks about is the night another car ran into him, ripping a back tire apart and pushing him off the track. He walked away from that mishap.

"It's really exciting when you're out there. The adrenalin is really pumping," Greiner explains.

Points are awarded at all the races, with a small purse available to the top three finishers. For this year at least, the Drayton Valley driver is just happy to be doing something he always had a desire to try.

But, despite the costs it appears the rookie driver will become a regular, as his plans call for a trailer to haul his car. And, he knows that each Saturday night out is part of a learning experience.

While many of the other drivers at Calmar are veterans on the circuit, Jerry Greiner is just excited about doing what he's seen others do on television. You might say he's been bitten by the TV bug. And is enjoying every minute of it.

Minor hockey season just around corner

By Lorne Christensen

Minor hockey players can sharpen their skates and dust off their sticks as the season is just around the corner.

President of the Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association, Garry Janzen, says they will hold a registration meeting on September 10 at the Frank Maddock High School.

Janzen is hoping that by that time they will have received word on minor hockey's bid to run the arena concession.

"If we get it, it has a lot to do with our fees," Janzen explained.

"If we don't (get it) then we may have to raise the fees."

If minor hockey is successful then parents will be automatically enrolled to do some volunteer work in the concession when they register their kids.

The night will also mark the general meeting of the association and Janzen says several things will be discussed.

Included is fund raising and the possibility of holding a skate-a-thon.

Currently, the association is establishing their teams in the North Central Hockey League and looking at the new age limits for minor hockey players.

They will be pushing for more players in the novice on 5 to 9-year-old group. Janzen said they may split the group so the 5 and 8-year-old kids play together and the 7, 8 and 9-year-olds are together.

Janzen said their "aim is to get more kids started and get more enrollment."

He added they are hoping to get more girls playing this year.

Last year they had one in the "whole program" while other towns had several.

Janzen is hoping they will get about 250 to 300 kids in the program.

Plans have already been drawn up to give

Road closed for street race

If you're driving near Rocky Rapids on September 15 watch out or you could become involved in a street race.

The road between Highway 22 and Rocky Rapids will be closed on September 15 while the Pro Street Auto Club has a racing meet.

Spectators are welcome to the event which will feature five different classes of cars racing down a quarter-of-a-mile strip.

The races get underway at 11 a.m. and are expected to last until about 5 p.m. which will include a special appearance by Brad Janishewski, the "Canada Kid".

Janishewski, a local funny car driver, recently finished second at the Funny Car Nationals in Calgary.

Town taking bids

The town is currently accepting bids for the arena concession and skate sharpening facilities.

Mary Ann Evenson has operated the arena concession for the past two winters and Rick's Sporting Goods had the skate sharpening franchise last season.

However, recreation director Calvin Bennefield says it's town policy to accept bids on the two every year.

The ice plant at the arena will be started up Sept. 13 with ice-making to start three days later and the regular season is set to go one week after that.

each age group a tournament. The novices, atoms (previously mites), pee wees, bantams and midgets will all host tournaments over the year, involving a total of 36 teams and five tournaments.

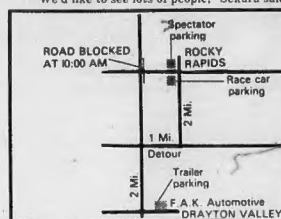

Other drivers in the races will be divided into super stock, modified stock, super modified, trucks and motorbike classes.

The deadline for entries is Sept. 10 and anyone can try out their vehicle for $10.

Ron Sekura, the president of the Pro Street Auto Club, says they are hoping to get about 1,000 people out to watch the event.

If the weather should dampen the day then they will re-schedule the race for the weekend of September 22.

"We'd like to see lots of people," Sekura said.

Map shows where road will be blocked.

Oscar wins four medals at Provincials

Yvette Oscar won two silver medals at the provincial swimming competition last weekend in Calgary.

Oscar won her medals in the 50 metre butterfly and the 100 metre breaststroke. She also picked up two bronze medals for her part in the senior girls relay team.

Carol Graham, Kimberley Glowa and Cathy Groulx were the other members of the team that placed third in the medley and free relays.

At the regionals held a week earlier in Hinton Oscar had won the butterfly and breaststroke along with a second in the 50 metre freestyle and individual medley. Kelly Graham also won at the regionals taking first in the breaststroke and 100 metre freestyle with a second in the 50 and 400 metre freestyle. Steven Oscar took second in the 100 metre breaststroke and Ryan Anker placed second in the 50 metre breaststroke.

Five local relay teams also did well enough at the regionals to qualify for the provincials. The senior girls team which placed third in Calgary had earlier won the regionals. The 13 and 14-year-old girls relay team of Nicole Bergot, Marcy Groulx, Andrea Groulx and Dawn Urchysyn took second. The boys senior 200 metre medley team of Lane Anker, Kelly Graham, Steven Oscar and Kevin McGurk also placed second in the free relay and medley.

Lakers capture Creek tournament

The Carnwood Lakers captured top spot at the two-day, six team ladies slow pitch tournament last weekend at the Modeste Creek picnic area.

The weekend tourney was hosted by the Ol-Slo Goes of Carnwood who hope to make the tourney an annual event.

After finishing first during Saturday's round robin the Lakers defeated the Carnwood all-stars 19-14 in semi-final play before edging the Genesee Eagles and Gems 3-1 in the final. The Eagles and Gems advanced to the final with a 9-4 win over Ol-Slo.

On the "B" side of the tourney, the Carnwood all-stars downed Ol-Slo 5-3 to take third place.

Fifth place went to the Maybe's virtue of their 4-3 win over the Drayton Valley Expos. Despite going winless in four games the Expos were winners...of the Skunk medal.

Marcy Groulx, in the water, Colleen Bryant, on the bike, and Mark Freeman, jogging, represent the three parts of the triathlon.

Iron Man competition is coming to Drayton Valley

The iron man of oil town will be decided September 8.

That's when the first annual Iron Man of Oil Town triathlon kicks off at 9 a.m. at the Park Valley Pool.

The event is sponsored by the Neptune Swim Club and the top three finishers in each category will win trophies.

Participants will be divided into a men's, women's, team, family and junior groups. The men, women and teams will compete over the long course. They will begin with a one kilometre swim then a 10 kilometre bike ride and finally a five kilometre jog.

Entrants in the short course will be the juniors and families. They will swim a half kilometre, cycle five kilometres and jog two kilometres.

Entry forms for the event can be picked up at the Park Valley Pool with the deadline for entries being noon on Sept. 6.

Organizers are hoping to get up to 100 entrants competing for the trophies donated by local businessmen.

Individuals can enter for $10 with teams paying $15.

Oilfield players

Stars shine in rain

The Oilfield All-Stars won two games on Saturday and then watched as the rain clinched their victory.

The team took 14-11 and 16-12 victories on Saturday against the Northwest All-Stars in the scheduled best of five series.

But the rains came Sunday and washed away any hope of continuing the series giving the Oilfield team the victory.

Ken Baird, of the Oilfield all-stars won the most valuable player award for the games.

Poker rally won with three aces

The Drayton Valley Junior Forest Wardens play a mean game of poker.

As a fund raiser, they put on a poker rally last weekend near Lodgepole which Grant MacPherson of Drayton Valley won with three aces in his hand.

The rally had ATV enthusiasts going in search of the perfect poker hand. Each of the entrants would get a card when they registered. At each of three check points along the off-road route, they would each get a sealed card. And finally, they would draw a last card at the finish line.

Whoever had the best hand, won.

MacPherson's hand won him 25 per cent of the entrance fee, which netted him $27.50. Tim Simpson came in second to an $11 prize with three nines. Bruce Gawalko won $5.50 with his third place win with two kings and two deuces.

There were only 22 entrants, which organizers chalked up to the bad weather that day.

Our rates are planned with you in mind. These low cost classified ads are a great investment.

Heavy horses highlighted show

By Jackie Harke

Two full days of horse activities were held at Harke's last weekend.

Highlights of the show were cutting on Saturday night, with the heavy horses being the stars on Sunday. Over 125 horses were entered at the two day show.

Hi-point awards were given over the two days. Hi-point junior rider, 10 and under: Jennifer Olson, Mayerthorpe. Hi-point senior rider: Allyn Huselage, Drayton Valley, riding Me A Sona Deck. Hi-point intermediate rider: Tara Fleischaker, Drayton Valley.

The Breeders Stake Classes paid out $700.00 for the english and western classes.

Top rider in the english section went to Rodney Tulloch, Mayerthorpe.

Top rider in the western section went to Tara Fleischaker of Drayton Valley.

In the Cutting Horse section, top money went to Harvey Giese of Stony Plain and Billy Geinger of Mayerthorpe. Giese won the stall feeder donated by R.K. Trailer Sales, Duffield.

The draft horse trail class was won by Jim Stocking of Barrhead, second place going to Mary Lauer of Drayton Valley. The Fleischaker's from Drayton Valley sponsored the class. The class was a crowd pleaser, watching the drivers maneuver their teams through a tight course designed by Lorne Fleischaker.

The heavy horse pull was won by Stuart Lyster with Punch and Nancy. George Miller with Babe and Riley took second, with third going to Mary Lauer driving Kitten and Angel. Harke's Quarter Horses sponsored the class donating 20 sacks of grain. William Lemishka with the Imperial Oil Bulk station supplied the fertilizer for the weight.

I would like to thank all the people who sponsored the Breeder's Stake classes, and helped put on the two day show.

Judges for the show were Mr. Phil Ross of Edmonton and Bev Hood of Gibbons. Both judges were impressed with the quality of the show.

Siebens look forward to the upcoming bowling season

By Frank Ryan

Lorraine and Dan Sieben are looking forward to the upcoming bowling season.

The Siebens, who took over the six-lane Twilight Bowl on Drayton Valley's main street in February, will be heading into their first full season at the controls.

League play for men's, ladies', mixed and the golden age will start Sept. 9 followed by the Youth Bowling Council (YBC) on Sept. 16.

To help launch their first full year at the lanes, a special promotion will be held from Aug. 31 to Sept. 8 where bowlers pay for one game and get another free. Bowling will be from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m. A number of door prizes and hidden scores will be awarded during the week.

The Drayton Valley couple have made a number of changes at the lanes. These include resurfacing the approaches and lanes, replacing the curtains along the 60-foot side walls with rug and painting.

They also plan to make bowling more fun this season by introducing a number of extras. These will include such events as bingo bowling, scotch doubles to a secretaries bowl. They also hope to get many of the companies in town involved in bowling. In conjunction with The Western Review, a bowling column will be published weekly and a bowler-of-the-week and -month will be honored.

Last year the Twilight Bowl operated with 13 leagues and about 350 regular bowlers for their winter leagues.

Running the bowling alley is like a dream come true for the Siebens.

"Dan wanted to buy this alley 15 years ago. But we were newlyweds and couldn't afford it," Lorraine admits. When the opportunity came up last December, we jumped at the chance," Lorraine added.

"I was scared. We had never done anything like it before. We worked a few times. It was totally different from trucking that had been our life," she said.

"But I'm glad we did it now. The bowlers have been very supportive. John and Ruby Hurley, the previous owners, have been a big help," Lorraine stated.

If you require any information on the upcoming bowling season, call Lorraine or Dan Sieben at 542-5745 or 542-3523.

Rod Bourgon applies paint to the walls inside of the Twilight Bowling alley.

Bash rained out

Several months planning for a teen beach bash at Wabamun Provincial Park was washed away by the rain.

Ed Hawkowski, co-ordinator of recreation programs for the west end of Parkland County, said he was "certainly disappointed in the weather," which shot down "two or three months of planning."

There have been no plans to hold the event on an alternate day, although Hawkowski did say there will be some sort of dance this fall at an indoor location. However, no definite plans for the event have been made at this time.

With an expected crowd of 400 to 500 youths, Hawkowski said around 100 local people had planned to take the bus being provided to transport them to the party.

As well, "the sponsors came through in a very big way," supplying such items as backpacks, t-shirts, soccer balls and gift certificates to be given away during the bash.

Hawkowski said he is approaching the sponsors to see if the donated items could be held onto for the next event.

Two scholarships awarded

Only two applications have been received for the R.H. Woods Scholarship.

The first scholarship, between $700 and $1,000 will be awarded at the Frank Maddock

High School graduation on September 21 by Dot Woods.

To be eligible for this award a student must show academic achievement, demonstrate leadership and responsibilities in student activities and be involved in community service.

Only FMHS Grade 12 graduates are eligible for the R.H. Woods scholarship. Funds will be for post secondary training or schooling. There is a deferment of one year, in case the student wants to work before going on in the education field. And, the scholarship funds are payable upon the students' attendance at the institution of their choice.

A nomination from the community, where a student may be doing a service, which might be unknown to the selection committee, would be helpful.

Nominations can be sent to the Frank Maddock High School, Box 1109 or dropped off at the school.

Shirley's running

Shirley Cripps says she will probably run for office when the next provincial election is called.

The Drayton Valley M.L.A. was first elected in 1979.

Although she wasn't definite about standing for re-election, Cripps said "Some things were started that I'd like to complete."

Three projects Cripps would like to see completed include the Brazeau road which is rated number one on her priority list, the Buck Lake park and development of the forest industry at Drayton Valley.

Shirley Cripps will be surprised if a provincial election is called this year. Speculation is, that if Don Getty wins the Tory leadership race he would call an election immediately while Julian Koziak and Ron Gitter have indicated they would wait awhile.

Health Unit Co-ordinator

Ostertag leaves as Carr takes over

Crystal Ostertag's work will live on long after she leaves her job this Thursday.

As volunteer co-ordinator for the West Central Health Unit, Ostertag placed 18 volunteers with 23 clients. When she began the job earlier this summer, they "had hoped to meet up with eight clients."

But, just because Ostertag will be attending her third year at the University of Alberta taking education, the program will not fall apart.

Volunteer Joan Carr will be taking over the reins of command. However, this should not be too hard as Ostertag has put together the basic structure for the program.

Carr will be "acting as a liaison with the other volunteers" for the health unit, said Ostertag.

The program has been "a lot better than I expected," commented Ostertag. The volunteers have put in over 100 hours since July.

Ostertag said she hopes to come back next year to continue the work.

She added, "Thank you Drayton Valley."

Hectic summer for tourists

It's been a busy summer at the Drayton Valley tourist information booth.

Despite access problems related to the construction on 50th Avenue, summer councillor Tracey Stasiuk says July was an excellent month. The best time is between 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. on Fridays and most weekends. The registration book reflects about 20 visitors per day with several days of 30 and 35 people coming in for information.

The booth, located next to the Esso station, will close down after the Labor Day weekend.

Stasiuk reports that a lot of Drayton Valley and area people have been making good use of the facilities, provided by the Chamber of Commerce. Most people are after maps and accommodation guides.

The registration book divides visitors from Denmark, the Northwest Territories and many of the provinces. Most of them are families, according to Stasiuk.

Besides road maps, the Brazeau area south of Drayton Valley draws a lot of questions. "People want campground, fishing and road information," Stasiuk says. There's also been a lot of inquiries on Highway 22 through to Rocky Mountain House.

The summer tourist councillor reports a good percentage of the people who come in are headed for Jasper or Lake Louise.

And, while the construction on 50th

Avenue has affected traffic, life hasn't been all that dull. Stasiuk relates the tale of a couple who took the wrong turn at Devon and ended up in Drayton Valley. They were actually looking for Calgary.

Constituency meeting

Clark takes pride in government actions

Although popular support for the federal Progressive Conservative party has been falling, Joe Clark is proud of its accomplishments.

The Minister of External Affairs told approximately 120 people at a constituency meeting held in Evansburg last weekend how the government has "ended most of the worst features of the National Energy Program."

And, the Foreign Investment Review Agency, which he said was driving away foreign money, has been replaced by Investment Canada. This also means the international reputation of Canada, which lately has not been good, has changed as well, Clark stated.

Comparing Canada to a large ship, Clark said it is hard to get the country turned around, but "we are gradually getting the deficit down, though not as fast as you or I would like."

There is also more employment and lower interest rates.

Among the major accomplishments is the change in provincial and federal relations. "It is now possible for governments to come together" for a solution, Clark said, pointing out how they are working together on the agriculture crisis.

Because Canada has a small home market, to achieve large industry takes a large market such as the U.S.

"Somewhere around 70 per cent of our trade with the U.S. is without barriers."

Unfortunately, Clark said, that figure is becoming lower because of growing protectionism although "in this case, Ronald Reagan is on our side" in believing there should be more free trade.

However, all is not easy with our neighbors to the south because of the recent controversy over the Polar Sea icebreaker belonging to the U.S. which recently passed through Canadian waters.

"We consider those Canadian waters," Clark said. But, he pointed out there are two sides to claims of sovereignty.

There is legal side, such as who owns what, and "what you do with what you claim to own."

Clark said because Canada does not have an icebreaker, it is a little harder to make those claims.

He did point out the advantages for exploration and commercial use of the north if Canada were to get one of the $560 million ships. This would help establish more claim to the area, as well.

Other areas of sovereign nature he pointed out is the Northern Warning System and American fishing off the Georgia banks, which was "killing the livelihood of many Canadians."

In both of these situations, Clark said the current government has satisfactorily handled the situation.

Another area Clark has been working on is the apartheid situation in South Africa.

The Canadian government has introduced 13 economic measures against South Africa, some of which Clark admitted were fairly small.

The only area which that country feels vulnerable is in the "business support in their own country."

Canada's actions have also been repeated by many other countries, Clark said.

"Anything which we can do to end apartheid less violently rather than more violent, I'm sure most Canadians would support," Clark said.

However, Canada would consider ultimately disrupting both economic and political ties to South Africa.

Employment office to tap community

The Canada Manpower and Immigration Centre will be looking for assistance from the community when they open an office in Drayton Valley next month.

Louise Smith, acting manager for the Canada Manpower west Edmonton office and supervisor Larry Dacyk attended an 'open house' at the provincial building in Drayton Valley last week.

"Our immediate step will be to make the community aware of us," Smith says. "We will be looking for assistance from the employer. We want to tap the local people to see what their needs are," Smith added.

"We would be very disappointed if all we handled was employment claims," Smith stated.

Canada Manpower, offering insurance and employment opportunities, will open their office in the provincial building during the second week of September.

Joe MacLellan, executive director of the Pembina Education Consortium, a key figure in getting the service, was extremely happy with the 25 people who turned out for the open house.

The exact day of the week and the hours of operation will be worked out shortly.

Avoid line-ups

Schools open for early birds

Parents can get a jump on registering students at schools in Drayton Valley.

Elson Keowan, principal at Elementary B school, said all the public schools in town are open and will accept registrations before the first day of school.

The main advantage, he said, was not having the customary line-ups on the first day of classes.

Town employee for 19 years

Fred Galvon hopes to join his wife in Chase

Fred Galvon is looking forward to joining his wife in B.C. when he retires at the end of September.

Employed by the Town of Drayton Valley for 19 years, Galvon said "I'm kind of anxious to join my wife" who has run a flower shop in Chase B.C. for the last 11 months.

Galvon had been a foreman in the Public Works department, but when the town started contracting out construction projects and reduced staff, he became an equipment operator.

His first job in Drayton Valley was as a town police officer. Four years after joining the force, Galvon transferred to public works because the RCMP took over the duties here.

People

Galvon began his police work in Rocky Mountain House where he started as a special constable. After attending a police school, he joined the force there as a regular officer.

When Galvon joined the force in Drayton Valley, it was "just after the boom" and the rough place it had been over.

There were only "around 2500 people when I came here. There were no shopping centres or anything at the time. They paved a lot of the roads since I've been here," said Galvon, commenting on progress in town.

Galvon, who turns 66 in September, is taking an early retirement, "but that's not enough to retire on," he said, adding he will likely look for work in B.C.

Currently buying a house at Adams Lake, near the Shuswap Lake, Galvon is looking forward to the fishing there. On a recent visit, he won a fishing contest with a six-pound two-ounce rainbow trout.

He is not worried about any of the politics of the province, though Galvon did say "the only thing that bothers me is the sales tax, because I'm not used to it."

Handles pool supplies

Jack's Plumbing opens in Drayton Valley

By Lorne Christensen
It you have a leak in your pipes Jack can fix it. Or at least an employee of Jack's can.
Jack Cathrea has recently opened up Jack's Plumbing and Gasfitting behind Fraser's Automotive. Cathrea previously ran his plumbing business out of his garage in Rocky Rapids.

It's "basically the same business, just expanded" he adds.

Jack's does everything from furnace and plumbing repairs to septic systems to hot water heating. But one thing that makes his plumbing business unique is he also handles pool supplies. Cathrea says there is "a demand" for it and he calls his expansion into pool supplies "something to branch out in."

"Actually, a lot of people around have pools: no one else handles pool supplies."

He explains he handles everything needed to maintain pools and has "access to people" that install pools.

Another service he offers in his store that opened in late June is built-in vacuums.

One of the reasons his business has been good so far is because of the variety of things he offers. Cathrea, who has been in plumbing 12 years, says that in the summer they are busy and in the fall they are finishing off jobs and then the winter time is for servicing.

He adds that business has been "fairly good" with it getting busier everyday in the store.

Jack's Plumbing is open from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday to Friday and from 9:30 to 4 on Saturdays.

He explains that most of his business is residential services.

"There is always something breaking down or plugging up," Cathrea says.

From l to Stan Geddes, Jack Cathrea and Simon Kelly, staff from Jack's Plumbing.

By LeOpal Larson

Guests at the home of Bill and Mary Richmond recently were George and Alvina Weigum of Wimboune and Mary's brother George and Ruth Hibbs of Huxley.

Pearl Schenk attended a reunion of the Thompson family at Joseph Lake near New Searpta Aug. 10 and 11. She then went on to Provost to visit her mother, Sina Hansen. Her sister, Edith Landry from Melisew, returned with her to visit relatives here and their sister Jean Tennant at Hoadley.

Bill and Audrey Donald from Calgary and their grandson from Kimberley and Mrs. Quinn were holidaying at the lake recently.

Stanley Krysta and Goldie McKay enjoyed two weeks holidaying in B.C. A niece, Arlene Sonnenberg of Victoria, took them for a tour around the island and they also visited Dorothy and Tony Londani at Port Alberni.

Guests at the home of Rudy and Vera Brus recently were her sisters from Ponoka, Evelyn and Don Peterson, Ethel and Merv Hollihan and Connie and Ken Kjenner, and friends Arnold and Marie Jones from High River.

There will be stop dog trials at the home of Doug and Mavis Patten Sept. 1 starting at noon. Admission is free and everyone is welcome. This will be a show of border collies working.

Congratulations to Tony Abbott and Linnette Johnston who were married Aug. 3 at the Pentacostal Church at Poplar Valley. The reception was in the Buck Lake Hall with the dinner being completely prepared by Linnette's brothers.

The happy couple will be residing in

Buck Lake News

Aisacraig, Ont. where they will be attending Christian View College.

Remember to have your fair entries ready for the morning of Aug. 28. Then on Aug. 29 you are invited to view the entries and exhibits.

Alberta Feed Grain Market Adjustment Program

An Alberta Agriculture program for Alberta livestock producers

Alberta Agriculture has introduced this program to offset the distortion in feed grain prices which livestock producers face as a result of the current method of paying the federal "Crow" benefit. The benefit is now paid directly to the railways.

Whether as a livestock producer you buy or grow your feed grain, you are eligible to benefit in the amount of $21 per tonne of grain you feed. Feed grains include wheat, oats, barley, rye, triticale, grain corn, peas and faba beans.

All livestock producers are eligible. Whether you raise beef or dairy cattle, hogs, poultry, sheep, goats, horses or bison, you can participate in the program.

HOW THE PROGRAM WORKS

The program has two options. Livestock producers can apply for one or both options.

OPTION I - the certificate option - is for livestock producers who are net purchasers of feed grain that is consumed as livestock feed within the province.

If you feed more grain than you produce, register with Alberta Agriculture and you will be issued with certificates which you can use as partial payment when you purchase feed grain. These certificates can be exchanged by feed grain producers at Alberta Agriculture district offices for a cheque based on $21 per tonne. Feed grain producers may also receive certificates when they sell to grain merchants.

OPTION II - the farm fed option - is for livestock producers who both produce and feed their grain.

If you're a producer who fits into this category, you can register with Alberta Agriculture, get approval for a maximum tonnage and claim $21 for each tonne of grain you feed which has been previously approved under your registration.

Those livestock producers who feed both farm-grown and purchased feed grain can register under both options.

FOR MORE DETAILS

A brochure describing this program has been widely distributed. Check it for more details.

If you haven't received a copy, contact your nearest Alberta Agriculture district office and request a copy.

Your district agriculturalist can also give you more details and supply you with a registration form so you can participate in the program.

Wants farm rateCounty turns down tax reassessment

A county resident's request to have the assessment on his property lowered has been denied by the County of Parkland.

Ben Richter, from the Tomahawk area, appeared before council to ask for what he termed an "honest assessment."

His taxes jumped from around $27 to $356 after his property was assessed at country residential rates, he said.

Richter claimed the property should have been assessed at farm rates.

Municipal Secretary Dan Konelsky said Richter's problems with the county began in 1982 after he sold the property in question.

The county received a notice from a lawyer indicating tax notices should be sent to the new owners.

The purchasers subsequently experienced financial difficulties and the property reverted back to Richter.

He didn't pay the taxes owing on the land and as a result the county levied penalties.

Richter said he didn't get a tax notice so he assumed the taxes had been paid.

He had entered into an agreement for sale but the title to the property never changed hands, he said.

Richter said he was quite willing to pay the penalty on the taxes at the rate he had previously been assessed but was not willing to pay penalties on taxes of $356. He said he had farmed the land the whole time.

He also stated tax notices are difficult to understand. Council should realize most people have a Grade 8 or 9 education, he said.

Instead, the county was leading "a bunch of sheep around a corner and there's a guy with a knife."

County Administrator Otto Schuster said the laws of the land dictate that when someone purchases property under an agreement for sale the county is obligated to send tax notices to that person.

The purchasers have the rights of legal owners, he said.

When the new owners took over the property they were assessed at country residential rates because they didn't qualify as farmers.

Taxes are a charge against the property, Schuster said. Even if the new owners walk off the land the taxes remain.

It was too late to appeal the assessment for 1985 but Richter could appeal the assessment for 1986, he said.

Reeve Maurice McCullagh told Richter council couldn't do anything about his complaint because the period for assessment appeals had passed.

The county had acted in accordance with the Municipal Government Act and "our hands are bound," McCullagh said.

"There are rules which have to be followed. You didn't follow any of them. What can we do?"

Richter said he had never sold the property before and didn't know the rules.

He said council was stepping on the toes of its own constituents.

"Is this a free country? I was taught in school that if you didn't understand something you could ask and get an explanation."

Coun. Carl Baron asked Richter at what point he had been involved in legal proceedings regarding ownership of his property.

Baron said Richter must have assumed the taxes weren't paid when legal proceedings were undertaken in November, 1984.

Richter said he found out too late to do anything about the taxes or his assessment.

"There are crooks and then there are white collar crooks," he said.

At this point McCullagh informed him council was "not going to sit here and be called crooks by you. If we're going to proceed along these lines we might as well quit the discussion."

"We're doing what we have to do," Richter said he would have to check with his lawyer about further recourse.

"You'd better review it (the property assessment) and let me know because I'm not finished with you yet."

After Richter left council chambers, Coun. Mark Chechotko said, "I'd have some sympathy with the man if he had a different attitude but when he starts calling us crooks..."

Schuster said the county files a caveat against the title of a property after taxes are two years in arrears. The caveat is filed under the provisions of the Tax Recovery Act.

Such caveats are always registered on April 1. One year following the registration the property can be offered for public auction.

In the case of Richter's property, the caveat would be registered on April 1, 1986.

Modelling career on hold for school

For Kim Bergquist modelling is "lots of fun." But unfortunately her lack of time has limited her from modelling.

The 16-year-old native of Drayton Valley took a course in modelling in Edmonton with John Casablancas.

But that is as far as her modelling career has gone so far, as school comes first.

Although Bergquist is interested in modelling she calls it a "little job, something to fall back on." She has her sights set on studying psychology instead.

"I want to do something different every day," she says in explaining why she would choose psychology as a career.

But for now Bergquist, who lives in Poplar Ridge, is content with finishing her last year of school in Drayton Valley.

Despite the fact Bergquist is not committed to a modelling career she is glad she took the 12-week course in modelling.

"It was great to take."

"It helped in other ways, it makes you take care of yourself better and you feel better about yourself," Bergquist pointed out.

She was also happy with the course in other ways.

"We met lots of nice people, it was sad when it was over," Bergquist says.

According to Bergquist the course taught everything from photography to ramp work to practicing commercials. She also learned about auditioning for a fashion show and make-up techniques.

But instead of modelling for the summer Bergquist is working for the recreation department in Drayton Valley.

"So far I've mopped the arena floor, mowed lawns and painted," she points out.

"It would be interesting (to model), but it all

Kim Bergquist, 16, uses her John Casablancas training to give a striking pose, depends. Right now I can't do that much, but maybe later on," she adds.

Bergquist still may go into modelling but for now it is on hold.

For Kim modelling is second behind school.

Kim says she has a lot of fun modelling.

Chamber of Commerce hosts tourney

The Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce will hold a nine-hole golf tournament in conjunction with their Sept. 4 general meeting.

Golfing will start at 3 p.m. with dinner to follow at 7 p.m. Everyone must enter one week before the event, even if you just plan to attend the dinner. To play golf or attend the dinner call Gary Hansen at 542-4465 or 542-5952.

RCMP move on hold

The Drayton Valley RCMP are facing delays in occupying their new building.

It was reported early last month the RCMP were looking to move into the building Aug. 1. However, the staff has "even stopped guessing" at the date for the move, according to Cpl. Chris Lee.

The move is "probably delayed until sometime in September," Lee commented.

The contractor is making some minor adjustments to the building to meet requirements.

The chamber is looking for ideas to expand their membership roles. To date the chamber has 121 members. There are close to 300 businesses in Drayton Valley. If you have any ideas, call Marty Prentice at 542-4447.

Circle September 6 to 8 on your calendar. Those are the dates for the second annual trade fair. Some outdoor exhibit space is still available. Call Marty Prentice at 542-4447 if you are interested.

The chamber would like to get a list of suitable functions that winter carnival queen Gillian McLellan could attend. If you can help call Kent Sabine at 542-7475 or the chamber office at 542-7578.

Due to business pressures Dan Goratzky has stepped down from the chamber's board of directors.

Riggy, the town's official mascot, is available for public functions. If you have a need for Riggy, call Bruce Clemmer at 542-4735.

The chamber's tourist committee has a good supply of place mats available. If any restaurant in town could use these place mats call Natalie Gibson at 542-3223.

The chamber could be moving. An application has been made to relocate to the old RCMP building.

The Labatts 100 endurance race will be held this Saturday, north of Bruderheim. Two races, 50 and 100 miles will be held for all horsemen. For more information call John Morton at 595-1641 or Kathy Thorne at 998-2764.

Seventeen Alberta horse breeders will participate in the Alberta Breeds for the World display at Spruce Meadows September 10-19. Each day there will be a 30-minute, professionally produced demonstration of horse action. Ponies, cutting horses, colored horses, show horses, exotic horses, race horse, work and jumping horses will entertain and educate with a distinctive musical performance.

The Masters horse show will have riders and teams from across Canada, the United States and Europe competing for approximately $500,000 prize money. Last year more than 50,000 people attended the event.

The Wild Rose Rodeo Association finals will be held September 27-29 at the Mayerthorpe indoor arena. Performances will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday, 1 and 7:30 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. on Sunday.

Qualifiers include the top 10 in the major events and the top six from the added events. Cowboys and cowgirls must have attended 40 per cent of the Wild Rose rodeos. Entries will be taken by your event director before 8 p.m. Monday, September 16.

The Wild Rose year-end awards night will be held at the Barrhead Inn on October 26. The annual meeting is set for 10 a.m. with the supper at 6 p.m.

The professional circuit has two big shows September 27-29 at Morley and September 28-29 at Lacombe. These are the final two shows before the Canadian finals in Edmonton.

Swanston competes as quality teen

Stacey Swanston.

Stacey Swanston of Rocky Rapids has been selected to compete in the Canada Quality TEEN contest Oct. 9-12 in Toronto.

The 14-year-old H.W. Pickup junior high school student became eligible for the contest as a result of her Young Miss magazine subscription.

Fifty to 60 girls between 14 and 19 years of age will compete in the competition.

To qualify, all the contestants must have a B average and complete 12 hours of community work.

But, there's more to the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity than the glamor. Swanston has to pay her own airfare to Toronto. For the past month she's been looking for sponsors to help with the costs.

Despite the obstacle of paying her own way, the Rocky Rapids resident is looking forward to her first trip to Toronto. The excitement of being in a nation-wide competition will come later.

No '88 festival bid

Drayton Valley is not expected to submit a bid to host the 1988-89 Alberta Winter Sports Festival or the 1988 Alberta Winter Games.

The recreation board was informed last Wednesday that all municipalities were being extended an invitation to bid on the two events.

Recreation board chairman Chris Kelly said, "I don't think Drayton Valley will apply."

Local farm tour takes in a lot of ground

By Neil Speers

One of the first subjects covered during last week's agricultural tour with 44 local farmers and residents was the grasshopper problem.

Many farmers, including those on the tour set up by the Alberta Agriculture office in Drayton Valley, would like to find a market for the herds of grasshoppers.

Businessmen from Japan, where the insects are considered a delicacy, came to Canada in search of a ready supply during the '70s. Unfortunately, there is no way to catch and keep grasshoppers in good condition or guarantee a consistent supply, said Alberta Agriculture's entomologist Michael Delinski.

During the first stop for the tour, at Earl Lawson's farm near Buck Creek Delinski explained a bit of the insects' life and some hints on control.

"Up here we're not used to grasshoppers," commented Delinski. "Control should have come sooner than it did this year."

"Where you saw grasshoppers this year, go out and look for them next year. That is where you should spray, he said."

However, he cautioned the "greatest problem

Entomologist Michael Delinski looks over an insect found on a potato plant.

(I have) in insect control is convincing people not to spray.

In many cases there is not enough of a problem to make it worthwhile to spray. You would lose more on the cost of spraying than you would lose in crops.

Another stop on the tour showed a test trial of a hay stabilizer being used on Alan Hughes' farm, also near Buck Creek.

'Area...not suited for orchards.'

The idea of the stabilizer, in this case a compound made using sodium sulfate, is to keep a bale from staying too hot for too long, causing heat damage. With excessive heat, hay will caramelize, reducing its food value to cattle.

Although all crops build up heat while it "sweats", or cures, the stabilizer helps return the bales to a normal temperature somewhat faster, minimizing damage.

A different stop for the tour was at a local orchard.

On Bill Roberts' farm, along Highway 22, east of Drayton Valley, there are about 100 fruit trees such as apple, apricot, plum, pears and many others.

The Roberts have had good success with the orchard despite how "this is an area that is supposed to be not suited for orchards," Roberts commented.

He had to learn from scratch as most books on the subject were written in the east and do not apply to here.

Advice contained in the books was to do a summer fallow. But, Roberts said this releases nitrogen, which makes the trees grow when they should be hardening for winter and leads to winter kill.

Instead, a grass, red fescue, was planted to protect the roots.

As for insect protection, entomologist Delinski said "the best thing you can do for a tree like this is taking your garden hose to it."

Other stops on the tour look in several experimental plots. These had several varieties each of barley, wheat and oats.

The information about which varieties grow best for specific circumstances such as weather, growing time, resistance to insects and disease, and success in various soil conditions is available from the District Agriculturalist's office.

The last stop was to a plot of sorghum, which is a Southern States grass. The description of the plants sounds very promising. Looking like corn plants, the sorghum grows between 18 inches and 15 feet tall.

Frank Maddock tastes an orchard berry.

Farmers stroll through some test plots.

However, the plants seen by the tour were under the 18-inch description and were almost completely overrun by nettles. A stand of Leduc barley was doing very well in its plot next to the sorghums.

"This is what happens when you take a warm weather crop to a cool climate," commented District Agriculturalist Doug Walkey.

GREETINGS FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT

Welcome Back

Marvin Tkachuk
Superintendent of Schools

The 1985/86 school year is about to begin!

This is a time of anticipation and regrets. Regrets because all of us feel some sadness at the passing of another summer with its unstructured recreation time for the young at heart. There is however anticipation too - anticipation of a new school term with all its interesting facets; friendships old and new, the challenge of mastering new ideas and concepts, the excitement of growing and maturing.

Commencing in September, students, parents and teachers will enter into new partnerships that will prove to be successful in most cases. The goal of the relationship will be to guide students to increased knowledge and maturity. To successfully reach the goal all three partners must contribute positively. Students must be prepared and willing to engage in learning. Parents must be interested and supportive of learning and the school. Teachers must be dedicated to providing the right environment for each student to experience success. I believe the partnership will succeed.

The County of Parkland administrative staff is anxious to share in making this school year a very positive one. We have recruited and retained a very high calibre teaching staff of whom we are proud, and we look forward to assisting them through program support, evaluation and coaching so that they may continue to refine their teaching skills. Our stewardship of the school system's finances has been and will continue to be responsible so that school children receive the greatest benefit from the limited dollars available for public education. Each of us is interested in listening to the community members served, so that we may respond to expressions of support or concern about the quality of schooling offered.

Yes, the 1985/86 school term will be an exciting and successful one for all who strive to participate.

If each of us actively support our schools we will share in the knowledge that students are learning because we care.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

On behalf of the County of Parkland Public School Board it gives me pleasure to welcome some 10,000 students ranging from kindergarten to grade twelve to our twenty-six schools. I would especially welcome those students who are enrolling in our school system for the first time.

We as a Board are proud of our school system and are committed to a concern for developing all students to their potential. Programs are being initiated in response to specialized needs such as instruction for learning disabled children, for handicapped children and on micro-computer technology.

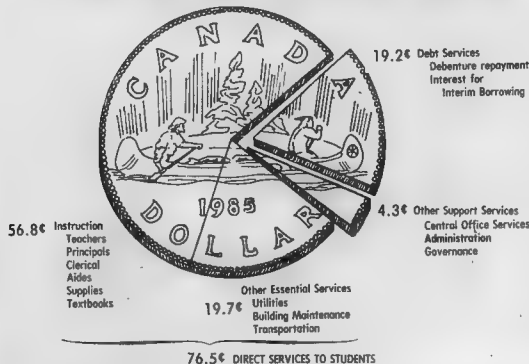

The Board of Education of the County of Parkland governs a complex school system by adhering to several basic principles:

1. The system recognizes that the quality of any service is limited by the relative wealth of the people it serves.
2. Each Board member understands that the central mission of the system is the proper education of children.
3. The system is public and thus the trustees are interested in public input.
4. The system is democratic and thus issues are fully aired and debated before the Board reaches decisions.

Your School Board has accomplished many things in the past year and has set in motion several thrusts for the future. We accept the responsibility placed on us to make the right decisions for the future of the children attending County schools. It is our conviction that the 1985/86 school term will be highly successful and rewarding to all who actively participate.

The lines on your sales chart showing increases in sales and profits are the kinds of lines we specialize in. A few years back, advertisers had fun. They used gimmicks to build images, but those days are gone.

Being in business these days is serious business. Today's advertising has to get results! You need to ring cash registers!

THE WESTERN Review's advertising department understands today's business conditions and can help provide you with the kind of information and help you need. Our staffers can help you with the initial planning. We have free clip art for just about every kind of business and we'll write hard-hitting layouts that "grab" readers and turn them into buyers.

We can even help you take advantage of manufacturers' co-op funds to stretch your budget. We have all the information, the tools and the ability to put it all together for you.
